INVITATION

China International Scientific Instruments and Laboratory Equipment Exhibition (CISILE), recognized as one of China's Top 10 Brand Exhibition Projects, a China Integrity Exhibition, and a UFI-certified international brand exhibition, has successfully held 22 sessions to date. Over the past 22 years, CISILE has stayed true to its mission, continuously upgrading the scale and quality of the exhibition for scientific instruments and laboratory equipment. It has become a must-attend offline platform for research institutes, universities, third-party testing institutions, and large enterprises to learn about and purchase scientific instruments and laboratory equipment. As a global grand event in the field of scientific instruments and laboratory equipment, it serves as a "barometer" for international cutting-edge development trends and industrial upgrading in the laboratory scientific instruments sector, making positive contributions to driving technological innovation, independent research and development, and industrial growth in China's scientific instruments and laboratory equipment field.

CISILE, driven by innovative development, clarifies positioning and planning, strengthens brand image, and expands market reach.

The 23rd China International Scientific Instruments and Laboratory Equipment Exhibition (CISILE 2026) will be held at the National Convention Center (Phase II) from May 29 - 31, 2026. It will showcase new products, technologies, and achievements in fields like laboratory instruments, with a 30,000 - square - meter exhibition area, including a special area for fully automated laboratories.

During the same period, academic forums (e.g., the 7th China Laboratory Development Conference) and events (e.g., CISILE 2026 Independent Innovation Award selection, enterprise product - technology exchanges) will be held. These provide a platform for researchers and industry professionals to access info, share tech and results, and discuss industry matters.

We will continue to strive to further optimize the scale and service level of CISILE 2026, gather more top industry enterprises and elites, and provide users from research institutes, universities, third-party testing institutions, large enterprises, and other fields with a wider range of choices, better procurement channels, and deeper levels of discussion. We sincerely invite and welcome you to attend and share opportunities for cooperation and development!
